Masterpieces from a long- standing brand created specifically for Japan

La Cocotte de GOHAN is a cast iron enamel pot shaped like a traditional broad-brimmed rice kettle, renowned for superior heat retention. It was developed by STAUB, a long-standing brand founded in 1974, with the aim of offering Japan a way of cooking even more delicious rice. Its rounded form circulates heat evenly throughout, cooking all of the grains at once and producing plump, glossy rice. It can also be used for stews and other everyday dishes, and above all, its elegant design is the perfect addition to any kitchen. Its presence brings a sense of contentment and adds a touch of beauty to even the most hectic breakfast table.

Precise craftsmanship transforms the everyday into something truly special

Odate Magewappa bento boxes are distinguished by the beauty of their cedar grain and refined presence. They represent a traditional handicraft from Odate City in Akita Prefecture, and each piece is carefully handcrafted by skilled artisans. They are remarkably lightweight yet strong and resilient, and their excellent moisture-regulating properties help keep your lunch at its best. The more you use them, the warmer and deeper the wood becomes—developing its own unique character over time. You are sure to appreciate their precise craftsmanship and refined tradition as you make them a part of your everyday life. Welcome in the new season by savoring such luxurious moments.

The charm of antiques, reminding us of the passage of time

The appeal of antique furniture is born from the luster that develops naturally over many years of use and the profound character that reminds us of the passage of time. ERCOL a long-standing British manufacturer founded in 1920 by furniture designer Lucian Ercolani, offers wooden products featuring elegant curves, crafted using its advanced steam-bending techniques. The Stick Back Chair, designed 80 years ago, is beautiful from every angle and blends naturally into any living space. Well-crafted antique furniture allows us to experience the joy of cherishing fine pieces and passing them down with love.

Masterpieces of light that gently embrace the passage of time

The addition of even a single lamp can transform the way furniture and rooms are perceived. PANTHELLA lamps—a celebrated design by the renowned Scandinavian designer Verner Panton—softly envelop spaces in gentle light spilling from their milky-white shades. They are compact and rechargeable with a cordless design, for easy placement wherever you like. Their rounded, refined forms offer instant relaxation, whether placed at bedside or set in the dining room or kitchen. These gems provide a perfect opportunity to bring an item of true quality into your daily life.

Bring the budding of spring into your everyday life

Feeling close to nature in your daily life brings a sense of calm. A potpourri of tree shavings and bits of wildflowers offers a delightful fragrance as well as the joy of displaying and viewing these natural materials. The fragrance is crafted to evoke the image of trees and flowers, with a base of Yoshino white cedar and Aomori cypress blended with rose and chamomile. The natural materials are infused with incense and carefully aged, creating a subtle scent that lingers for a long time. The handcrafted Edo glass container also allows you to adjust the fragrance by opening and closing the lid, another key feature. Place it in your entryway or living room, as you would seasonal wildflowers in bloom.

Glass artistry instilling spaces with individuality

KARE is a furniture and interior decoration brand founded in Munich, Germany. Its unconventional designs have earned it fans around the world. The brand's flower vases showcase the superb skills of their glass artisans, and feature unique designs formed of gracefully curving lines. No two are ever the same, making each vase truly one of a kind. They can be displayed as art, or you can adorn them with flowers or branches to add a delightful touch of nature to any environment. These vases allow you to experience the joy of incorporating your own individuality—and a sense of nature—into your everyday life.

Exquisite writing instruments that add refinement to every stroke

Sheaffer, a writing instrument brand founded in the United States in 1913, was a favorite of several past American presidents. Its signature model, the Legacy, exudes a modern charm and features an inlaid nib with the grip section and nib seamlessly integrated—a design regarded as technically challenging. The rounded body rests naturally in the hand for an easy grip, and as you glide the nib across the paper before you, the words seem to effortlessly flow out. Once you have acquired your own, it will remain by your side for years to come, whether you're writing a love letter to that someone special or spending a quiet moment to reflect at the end of the day.

Masterfully crafted suitcases worthy of new beginnings

A refreshing white suitcase is the perfect thing to help you start a new life this spring. Zero Halliburton, founded in the United States 88 years ago, is a brand trusted by travelers and business professionals around the world. While the brand is well-known for its aluminum products, it also offers a wide selection of lightweight polycarbonate models. The compact 32L size holds enough for two to three days and is permitted as carry-on baggage. The smooth-rolling dual-wheel casters are equipped with a noise-reduction function, so you need not worry about early-morning departures. With a pure white suitcase at your side, you can set off for new destinations with a clear and renewed spirit.

Classic leather shoes that you'll fall more in love with over time

Patrick, founded in 1892 by a shoemaker in western France, has continued to deliver a refined, trend-independent style for discerning adults down through the years, with a two-lined pattern on each pair as its iconic brand symbol. The brand's Nevada model is crafted from premium steer leather. The shrinking process gives the leather a soft texture to mold more comfortably to your foot. The refined elegance of leather footwear effortlessly complements any look, from casual everyday attire to more special occasions. Step into spring with a pair of white leather shoes and enjoy the season's styles with a light, uplifted spirit.

An air of gravitas born of master craftsmanship

The Azabu Optical brand was created to share the creativity of Sabae's artisans with the world. Each masterfully handcrafted pair offers not only refined design but also superb comfort, allowing you to experience a spirit of craftsmanship that extends to the finest details. The ability to replace individual parts is another welcome feature, ensuring that you will enjoy your pair for years to come. The brand's Yoroi model, inspired by traditional Japanese armor, captivates with its bold and commanding presence. The model's classic, well-balanced Wellington shape lends an air of refinement to its inherent strength. Step out into the spring streets with a renewed sense of individuality.

Selvedge denim to cherish for a lifetime

The story of denim is worth honoring precisely because it is such a wardrobe staple. The Johnbull factory brand is based in Kojima, Kurashiki City—the birthplace of Japanese-made jeans. These straight-leg jeans are crafted from selvedge denim woven on vintage looms and finished with distressing for a timeworn, vintage look. They offer a straight silhouette with just the right amount of room from the hips to the hem, making them easy to wear for anyone regardless of age or gender. Enjoy discovering a lifelong pair of denim jeans, with a texture so soft they will fit you perfectly—in both body and soul.

Outfits that offer an escape from the everyday, like stepping into a small forest

In the pleasant warmth of spring, you'll find yourself wanting a dress that pairs beautifully with the gentle sunlight. These cotton-linen dresses—from a brand that aims to convey the feeling of being in a small forest—feature subtle transitions that create a graceful sense of dimension. Their simple design allows them to be worn not only as a dress, but also open at the front as a light outer layer. They are crafted from natural materials to let you appreciate the fabric's inherent character, its softness against your skin and its gentle sheen. Savor the light, airy comfort as you stroll through the garden forest.

A story that draws me toward a new version of myself

Simple yet distinct—that's what I seek. Items from e.m. satisfy that very desire. The little emblem series, in particular, stands out for the elegance of its gold, captivating the heart with its slender and delicately crafted designs. The diamonds are inset in two different patterns, creating variations in expression, while a tiny ruby—said to bring good fortune—is hidden within the band. Though small in size, the design's radiant individuality and presence elevate even the most ordinary days into something special. This is a gem that you'll want to gift to yourself, whether as a reward for seeing a project through to completion or as a symbol to help you step forward with renewed resolve.
